I could explain your product to your grandmother and she'd be proud of you.

I took everything I learned while bartending and applied it to making thought leadership blogs, UI microcopy, docs, ads, and newsletters sound honest, genuine, and human.

Replace AI with me.

Experience

Permit.io

2023 - Present

Product Marketing Manager

In charge of everything content - writing, editing, and creative copywriting.

Wrote and edited 200+ blogs, tutorials, and docs (responsible for ~50% of total traffic), as well as product messaging, landing pages, and promotional materials.

Developed and ran influencer programs and technical partnerships. Branded, planned, and represented the company at over a dozen tech events, meetups, and conferences worldwide.

Permit.io

2022

Social Media Manager

Joined as employee No. 5 and developed brand voice and PLG marketing strategy from day 0.

Built and grew the company's social media presence from scratch to thousands of followers on several platforms. Managed and grew a ~100-member OSS community into 2K+ highly engaged members, users, and customers. Led community events both virtually and in person.

StuffThatWorks

Social Media & Community Manager

Managed social media, community, and content creation. Created and managed 10 Instagram pages (company page + 9 community pages) with 60K+ followers total, growing sign-up traffic from Instagram to the company's platform by 600%. Co-managed and created content for 60+ Facebook pages with a total following of 300K people.

Community-Based Art Platform

2019 - 2020

Co-founder and manager

Founded and managed a small (6K+ followers), extremely engaged organic growth based community. Handled PR with major news outlets and managed brand and online merch shop.
